

Around You — Rep Guide: Completing the Onboarding Forms

A plain-English walkthrough of the onboarding forms for reps. Read the first two sections once — they explain the choices that confuse everyone. Then use the per-category checklists.

1. The single most important choice: Display partner vs Booking partner

Every partner is one of two things. Decide this first, because it changes the rest of the form.

A. Display partner (the normal one). The partner pays a flat monthly fee to be listed so guests/locals can find them, see their info, and get directions. You then choose who sees them (Guest / Local / Both) and a Tier (how much info shows). Use this for most partners.

B. Booking partner. The partner wants guests to actually book or reserve through the app (a restaurant table, a spa slot, an activity). Turning this on removes the Tier and Guest/Local/Both choices — a Booking partner is automatically shown to both guests and locals. They pay the base monthly fee plus a small per-booking charge.

Rule of thumb: "Do they just want to be found?" then Display partner. "Do they want people to book/reserve?" then Booking partner.

Pre-Orders (restaurants) are separate again — see section 4.

2. Guest / Local / Both — and how it sets the Tier and price

This only applies to Display partners (not Booking partners).

Step 1 — Shown to (who sees the listing):

- Guest only — only holiday guests staying at an accommodation see it.
- Local only — only signed-in locals in the area see it.
- Both — everyone sees it.

Step 2 — Tier (how much detail shows):

- Tier 1 — R200/month — Partial Information: a basic listing (name, category, contact, the essentials).
- Tier 2 — R300/month — Full Information: the complete profile — physical address, one-tap directions, full detail, all the extras.

The catch that trips people up:

- If Shown to is Guest only or Local only, they may pick Tier 1 (R200) or Tier 2 (R300).
- If Shown to is Both, it is always Tier 2, and the price is R400/month. You cannot pick Tier 1 with Both.

Shown to	Tier 1 (Partial)	Tier 2 (Full)
Guest only	R200	R300
Local only	R200	R300
Both	not allowed	R400

How to explain it to a partner: R200 gets you listed with the basics for one audience. R300 gives the full profile with your address and directions for one audience. R400 gives the full profile to both holiday guests and locals.

3. Bookings (if you ticked Booking Partner)

- The Tier / Guest-Local-Both section disappears — don't look for it.
- Base fee is R200/month, plus a per-booking charge:
- Restaurants: R10 per cover (per seat booked).
- Services: 10% per order (of the items booked).
- Attractions: 10% per person.
- You list Bookable Items. Restaurant = tables (Table for 1 = R10, Table for 2 = R20 ... defaults are pre-filled; only change a price if theirs differs). Service / Attraction = the products/experiences a guest can book — each with a name, price, and duration (minutes).

How to explain it: You pay R200 a month, and only a small amount each time someone actually books through the app — so it scales with real bookings.

4. Pre-Orders (Restaurants only — separate from everything above)

- Only relevant if the restaurant does Takeaway or Delivery.
- It is independent of Tier and Bookings — a Tier 1 restaurant can still offer pre-orders.
- List each pre-order item: name, description, price, and lead time in minutes (how long the kitchen needs — 30 min, 45 min, etc.; this varies per dish, so set it honestly).
- The guest chooses Collection or Delivery and a preferred time at checkout — but the app only offers the options the restaurant actually supports (tick Takeaway and/or Delivery correctly).
- A pre-order is emailed to the restaurant's Bookings email; no money moves in the app — the restaurant confirms and arranges payment.

How to explain it: List the meals people can order ahead. Tell us how long each takes to prepare. When someone orders, you get an email with the order and their chosen collection/delivery time — you then confirm and take payment your side.

5. Things every form needs (and the small gotchas)

- Rep Code — must be your rep code so the partner (and commission) is linked to you. On the online form it pre-fills to Rep00000001 (the free/internal code); a real rep must replace it with their own. Leaving Rep00000001 means the partner is treated as free.
- GPS / location (Latitude & Longitude) — capture this while standing at the venue. On the onboarding app, tap "Use my current location" just below the Latitude/Longitude fields: allow location access when your phone asks, and the two coordinates fill in automatically from the phone's GPS. Do this outside or near the entrance for the best accuracy, and you can still hand-edit the numbers if needed. The partner doesn't need to know these. (Onboarding remotely rather than on site? Read the coordinates off Google Maps and type them in.)
- Images / logo / menu PDF — not on the form; arranged with the rep by email.
- Discounts — there are two separate ones: a Guest discount and a Local discount. Fill in only the audience(s) they're offering to. Each has an optional code.
- Charity — pick one group (Adults / Children / Animals) and one focus (Health / Homes / Food) — e.g. Children – Food.

- Payment methods — tick everything they accept.
 - Accessibility & child-friendly — tick what applies.
 - Signature & T&Cs — the partner must sign and confirm the info is correct at the bottom.

Keep this handy while filling in a form, and use sections 1–4 to explain the money side to a partner — that's where the questions always come from.
